EDUCATION BOARD
TO FILL VACANCY

Successor to Joel Sharp
To Be Selected at Monday Meeting

Among the varied items of business which will be considered by school board members at their first regular meeting of the year, next Monday evening, will undoubtedly be the selection of a successor to Joel H. Sharp as a member of the board.

The former attorney, now judge of common pleas court, submitted his resignation to the board last month. This week he took his place on the bench in common pleas court at Lisbon.

Mr. Sharp completed one year of a four-year school board term.
He was one of three elected to the board at the November, 1939 election, the others being F. P. Mullins and John T. Burns.

The names of several possible candidates have been discussed informally by the board, but no definite action has been taken to date.

FALL OF BARDIA NEAR, SAY BRITISH

Secretary Baudouin Resigns In French Cabinet "Shakeup"

Complete Reorganization Announced with Darlan.
Huntziger and Flandin Assuming Broad Powers Under Chief Petain

(By The Associated Press.)
VICHY, France, Jan. 3.—Reorganization of the entire French cabinet was announced today with Admiral Jean Darlan, General Charles Huntziger and Pierre-Etienne Flandin assuming broad powers under Chief of State Philippe Petain.

Paul Baudouin, secretary of state for presidency of the council, resigned, presumably as a result of the reorganization, which would have left him without power. His resignation at noon was announced in an official communique.

The new triumvirate will be headed by Admiral Darlan, naval minister, who will be charged with direction of the interior department. War Minister General Huntziger takes charge of defense and Foreign Minister Flandin of foreign and economic affairs.

Interior Minister Marcel Peyrouton and Minister of Justice Raphael Alibert, who had been important members of the cabinet and to whom it was believed the Germans objected, will be under Admiral Darlan's orders.

Brief Communique
The official communique which announced Baudouin's resignation said only:
"Paul Baudouin asked Chief of State Philippe Petain to accept his resignation. Petain acceded to his desire Jan. 3 at noon."

The press services, which had been under Baudouin's direction since Pierre Laval's ouster as foreign minister and vice premier Dec. 14 will be attached under the new set-up to the presidency of the council, which is Petain's department.

Baudouin's post as secretary of state for presidency of the council was similar to the post of under-secretary of state attached to the presidency of the council under former French regimes.

Directorate In Force
The cabinet change, which had been rumored ever since the Laval ouster, was interpreted by informed observers as substituting a directorate for the one-man power held by Laval. It was believed the Germans had already been advised of these new changes, but it was uncertain whether they approved.

It was known they demanded cabinet changes, but it was believed the wished Alibert and Peyrouton out of the cabinet entirely.

Observers expressed belief that German reaction would signify whether negotiations for collaboration, interrupted since Laval's resignation, will be renewed.

DR. H.H. BOOKWALTER HONORED BY CLUB

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 3.—Dr. Harry H. Bookwalter, dean of Columbiana county physicians and a charter member of the Kiwanis club here, was given a testimonial dinner by fellow members recently.

In tribute to his outstanding 40 years of service to the community, which began "way back in the horse and buggy days and has included professional, civic, and religious contributions to the village and county, Dr. Bookwalter was the recipient of congratulations from the assembly.

Short talks were given by Harry C. Warrick, president of the Kiwanis club; Dr. Stanton Heck of Salem; Dr. Seward Harris of Lisbon; Atty. C. C. Connell of Lisbon; Dr. Chester W. Dewalt of Columbiana.

Dr. Bookwalter then told of the days that are past—days that were associated with horse and buggy, mud roads, and the cruder implements of his profession—days that he thoroughly enjoyed by which he "would dislike returning to."

He pointed to the recent discoveries in medicine that have added greatly to the normal span of life. "Modern medicine," he said, "has created a class of older people today that have become a social problem unknown 40 years ago."

Bayard Couple Injured In Automobile Accident

ALLIANCE, Jan. 3.—James Cornett, 41, and his son, Emory Cornett, 19, of Bayard, R. D. 1, were injured Thursday morning in an automobile accident on the Alliance-Minerva road near Minerva.

The father, who suffered head lacerations, a fractured left collarbone and chest injuries, was admitted to City hospital. His condition fair. The son was released after treatment for a laceration above the left ear.

IRE BOMBED AGAIN; NAZIS' SHIPS BLAMED

Irish Envoy in Berlin Is Ordered to Make "Energetic Protest"

NAZIS' MINISTER
MAY GET PASSPORT

Bomb Fragments Dropped
At Various Points Are Of German Origin

(By Associated Press)
DUBLIN, Jan. 3.—Daylight raids bombed Dublin today in a continuation of sporadic attacks of the past 48 hours and the government of neutral Ireland (Eire) ordered its charge d'affaires in Berlin to make "energetic protest" to the German government.

The government's action was disclosed in an official statement which coincided with a rumor circulated in informed quarters that the German minister be given his passport if the bombings continue.

Bombs of German Origin
"Fragments of explosive and incendiary bombs dropped at Curragh, Julianstown, Duleek and Borris have been examined and found to be of German origin," said a statement issued by the department of external affairs.

The announcement followed a secret session at which Prime Minister Eamon de Valera discussed the grave situation with his cabinet.

Identify Parachutes
The nearest the government had come publicly to linking the Nazis with the attacks was the official announcement that one incendiary bomb and green silk parachutes which landed a number of magnetic sea mines were German-made.

The first daylight attack came this afternoon after night raids had been carried out on the Dublin area during the past 48 hours.

The planes, drawing rifle and machine-gun fire from Irish soldiers, swept over the city at 12:20 p. m. (6:20 a. m. EST) within nine hours after the blasting of two houses on Donore avenue, in a Dublin suburb, where some 20 persons were injured.

KIWANIS LEADERS TAKE OFFICE HERE

New officers of the Salem Kiwanis club were formally installed at a meeting following luncheon Thursday at noon in the Memorial building.

Rev. Carl Asmus, pastor of the Methodist church and president of the club for 1941, accepted the gavel from Beman G. Ludwig, retiring president.

G. W. McKee is the new vice president. Dale Wilson continues as treasurer and F. J. Wise as secretary.

Three new directors, Perry McArthur, James Farrell and Dr. Joseph Schmid took office.

The installation ceremony was conducted by the Salem club and past president of the club and past lieutenant governor of the Tenth division.

Nurses to Name Officers At Youngstown Meeting

Election of officers will feature the annual business meeting of the Ohio State Nurses' Association, District 3, at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Jan. 8 in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, N. Champion st., Youngstown.

A short discussion of topics of professional interest will follow the session. Members are asked to have 1941 district membership cards to show. Members of individual alumnae associations will be hostesses.

Yule, July 4 Temperatures Differ By Only Six Degrees

Weather conditions, described as "freakish" by District Observer L. H. Copeland of Millport, prevailed during 1940.

Most recent was the spring-like holiday weather—a record breaker. The 1939 holiday season had similar but cooler weather. An above normal high of 61 degrees was registered Christmas day—two points under the 63 degrees of Christmas day in 1932 which was the peak.

In odd comparison, last July 4th had a temperature of 68 degrees, just six degrees warmer than Christmas day, Copeland recalled.

1940 came to a close with the moisture situation excellent and wheat plants in a promising condition, according to the observer. The high temperature of the year was 90 on July 23 and the coldest was 12 below zero last Jan. 19. The first killing frost hit the district Sept. 26.

Snowfall for the year measured a total of 38.3 inches and rainfall 40.34 inches, three inches above normal. There were 123 rainy days during the year.

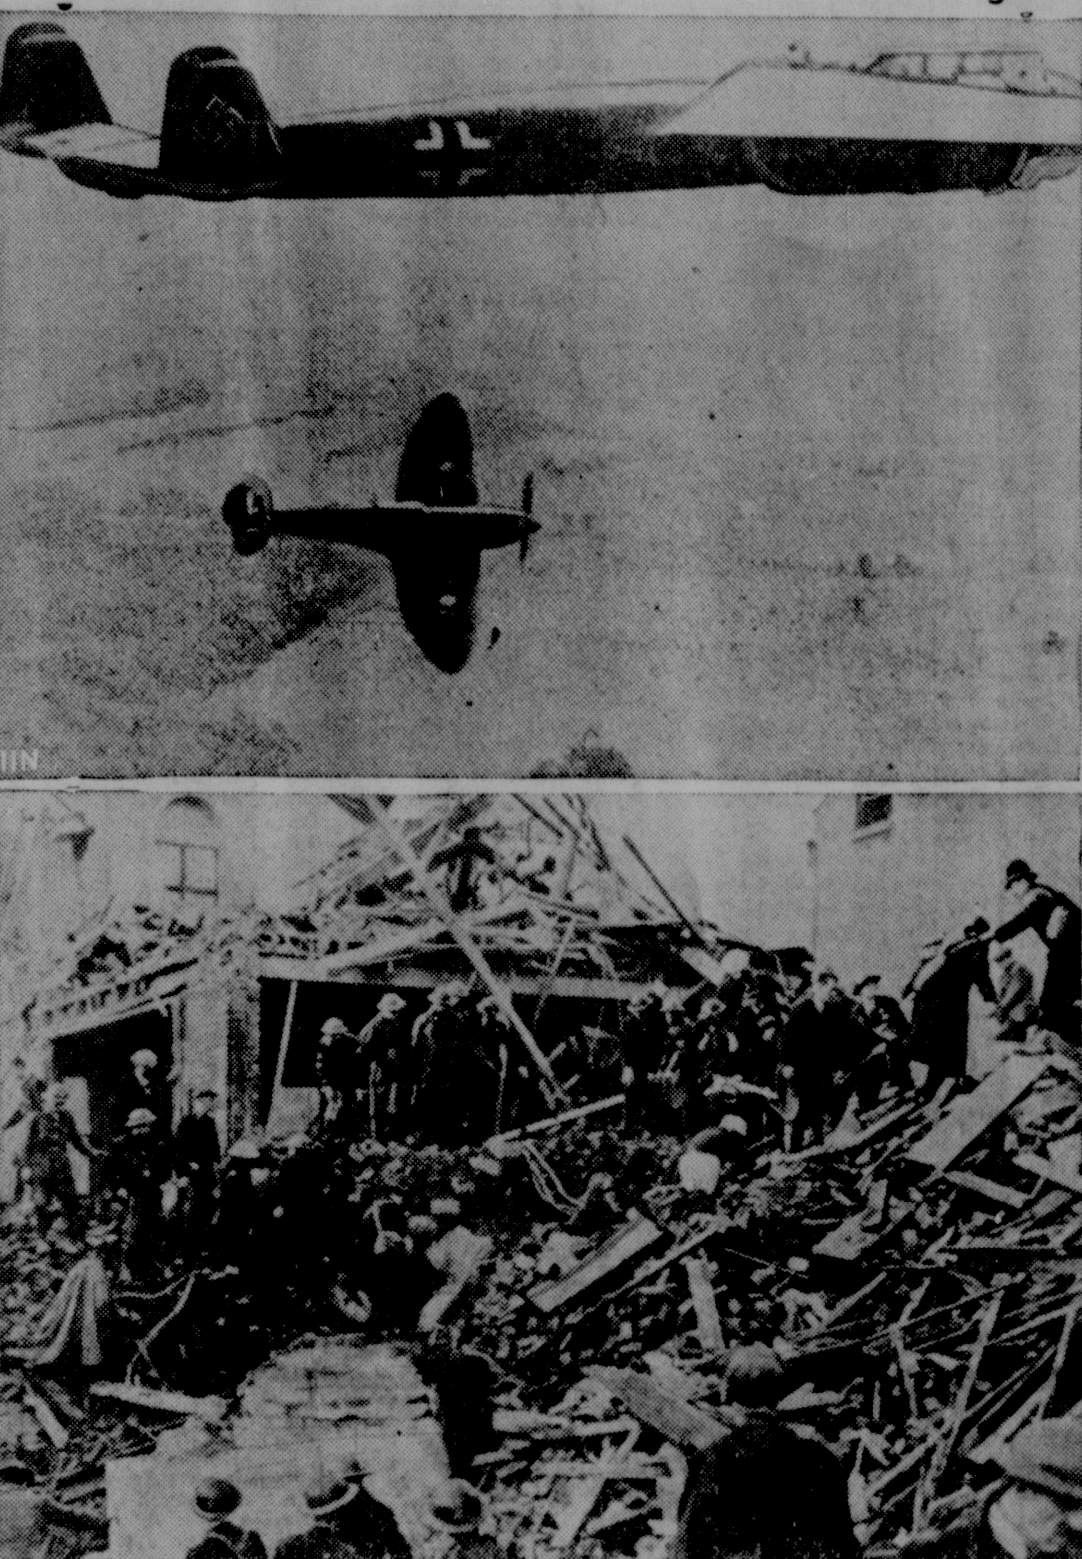

The season's mean temperature was reported as 46.9 degrees, compared to the normal of 48.5.

Sunshine during the year was below normal, registering only a percentage of 42. There were no severe heat waves or droughts. July had the warmest mean temperature reading, that of 69.6 degrees. January's mean reading of 16.1 was the coldest, Copeland said.

All crops were above normal except corn and potatoes, he added. The year had 160 growing days, normal being 145. He explained that the present winter's temperature should be above normal, with not too much sub-zero readings.

Last month had a mean temperature of 35.6 degrees and rainfall measuring 3.38 inches. Three days were clear, 18 partly cloudy and 10 cloudy.

German, British Planes Battle Above Wrecked Buildings

Top—According to the German caption accompanying this picture, this is an air battle between a German bomber (called a "flying pencil") and a Royal Air Force plane during an air raid over England. There was no information as to the outcome of the fight.

Below—this is one result of the bombing. Air raid precaution workers are pictured combing the ruins of a school in Liverpool for bodies of pupils after the building was devastated during a German air raid over the famed British seaport.

LISBON BUSINESS OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Practically All Plants Operating at Capacity,
Survey Shows

LISBON, Jan. 3.—Lisbon's industrial future looks very promising with the advent of the new year, according to a survey here today revealing local plants operating at almost capacity.

Operations at the plant of the R. Thomas & Sons company are at capacity, with 200 men employed in the manufacture of electrical refrigerators, while the plant of the National Brass & Copper Co. is operating 100 per cent, employing 150.

The American Vitriol Products company, which recently resumed the manufacture of "hot tops," is also operating at capacity giving employment to 103 men; the plant of the Excelsior Fire Clay Co., normally employing 35 men, is operating 100 per cent, and the Wright File company, employing approximately 15 men, expects increased activity with the receipt of a government defense order.

RECORDER'S OFFICE CUTS FREE SERVICE

LISBON, Jan. 3.—County Recorder Richard O. Wilson today announced a new business policy in connection with his office wherein a slight charge similar to that of banking institutions will be made on payment of accounts by checks.

The fee of five cents on checks up to and including $10, and 10 cents on checks of over $10 will be charged to defray expenses of cashing the checks, Wilson stated.

A postage charge of five cents will be made for stamps and envelopes unless same are furnished for the mailing of papers, receipts and statements.

This action was made necessary, Wilson stated, due to reduced appropriations for the office, which will necessarily curtail expenses for office supplies. Wilson stated that during November 162 checks were accepted by the office on which charges for the cashing amounted to $5.32.

Wilson also stated that due to the loss of one assistant because of the curtailed budget, deeds must first be transferred on the tax map in the auditor's office before they will be accepted for record in the future, and a 15-cent charge will be made for a search of the records, which hitherto have been free services.

Reckless Driving Cases, Totaling 197, Lead 1940
Arrest Report

Reckless driving charges, totaling 197, led the city arrest report for 1940, Police Chief Ralph Stoffer reported today.

In addition, 52 motorists were jailed by police and state highway patrolmen on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Arrests for the year totaled 573, with 129 of those being classified under intoxication or as "common drunks."

October was the high month for arrests, with 69. The lowest was February, with 22.

The number of arrests made on other charges were listed as follows:

Disorderly conduct, 12; vagrancy, 4; panhandling, 3; disorderly conduct, 16; warrant, 14; petit larceny, 8; grand larceny, 2; execution of fine and costs, 5; hit skip, 13; suspicion, 13; assault and battery, 8.

Breaking and entering, 4; selling produce without license, 1; defrauding an innkeeper, 1; obtaining money by false pretenses, 1.

Ohio Bowling 'Beef Trust' To Roll on Temple Lanes

Ohio's beef trust of the maple alleys will be seen in action on the Masonic temple alleys Saturday night.

It's a five-man bowling team weighing 1450 pounds, with an average of 950 a game. Known as Ohio's heaviest bowling quintet, it hails from Akron and bowls under the colors of Mueller's Noodles.

Their average of 950 pins is well above that of the Salem Eagles, who will meet them in this special match, but they were booked by the lodgement to give Salem bowling fans a treat. The match will get under way about 8:30 p. m.

AUSTRALIANS CRACK LIBYAN PORT DEFENSE

20,000 Italians Under Brit-

TANKS ARE THROWN AGAINST GRAZIANA

Mechanized Forces Sweeping Beyond Bardia, Aiming at Tobruk

(By Associated Press)
CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 3.—British general headquarters said today that Australian forces supported by tanks had penetrated the defenses of besieged Bardia.

The East Libyan port, defended by some 20,000 Italians, has been under British siege by land, air and sea for 18 days.

There the Italians have made their best stand since the start of the British offensive which drove Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's forces from Sidi Barrani and back into Libya.

Reports from the front yesterday said British mechanized forces had swept beyond Bardia to a point 75 miles from the Egyptian border, suggesting the possibility of a blow against Tobruk, the Italians' second big Libyan base, even before the fall of Bardia.

These reports said the British forces were in control of a segment of the road leading from Bardia to Tobruk, which is 80 miles from the Egyptian frontier.

With the British siege lines firmly established around beleaguered Bardia, there had been speculation that the British might attempt to starve out the Italians there without risking a possible costly frontal attack.

PRODUCERS PLAN APPLE FESTIVAL

Salem or Columbiana To Be Site of Fete Preceding '41 Picking Season

Plans for holding an apple festival for the Columbiana-Mahoning district next fall, in advance of the picking season, were discussed at a meeting of the Mahoning County Horticultural society Thursday in Greenford grange hall.

The event probably will be held in either Salem or Columbiana, if decided upon, although no site has yet been chosen.

Frank Agnew of Boardman, R. C. Lamb of Greenford and Jerome Hull of Canfield were named as a committee to confer with a similar group from the Columbiana County Horticultural society within the next few weeks to outline a definite program. The program would then be presented at the annual joint meeting of the two societies on Feb. 13, probably in Salem.

Speakers at the Greenford meeting yesterday were Ora E. Anderson, editor of the Farm & Dairy, who for three years was publicity director of a Jackson county apple festival, and Frank Beach, horticultural specialist from Ohio State university and secretary of the Ohio Horticultural society.

Anderson told of the Jackson county show and Beach screened colored slides of the fruit producing areas of the west which he inspected on a recent trip.

Officers re-elected yesterday by the Mahoning county organization are: President, Frank Agnew, Boardman; vice president, D. R. McConnell, R. D. Salem; secretary-treasurer, R. C. Lamb, Greenford; executive committee, W. H. Matthews of Salem and A. A. Less of Greenford.

Lisbon Robbery Attempt Investigated by Police

LISBON, Jan. 3.—An attempted robbery at the plant of the National Brass & Copper Co. here last night was being investigated by police today.

Robert Wilson, an employee, heard a noise in the storeroom at 8:20 p. m. and went back in time to see a man escape through a hole in the building. The thieves, who had ripped loose the metal siding of the building, left four 300-pound bars of copper behind when they fled.

PEP WON'T WIN ANYTHING

Talk, more than action, characterized the preparedness program in 1940. The strongest military power on earth took conversational form without a high. If resolutions and pep talks were enough, the United States would have no further worries.

Of course they aren't enough; the great bulk of the preparedness program remains to be carried out by hard work, by all the pulling and hauling and grief and headaches that go into a major enterprise. That is the job for 1941; the success of preparedness will be made or broken in the next 12 months.

At the outset, one danger looms. It has materialized before in projects undertaken by the Roosevelt administration. It is, with due credit to President Roosevelt's strong points, his most conspicuous weakness as an administrator. He has no particular capacity for detail and for following through what he has undertaken; the weakness has been evident throughout his administration.

To date, this shortcoming has been evident in the fact that while political exhortations to compose differences and turn on the heat have been broadcast to the people the executive branch of the government has been the source of a great deal of delay in the pacing of orders and in failing to set up the streamlined machinery of control needed to get the preparedness program moving at top speed.

Labor and management can move no faster than government on preparedness. It is primarily government's responsibility, insofar as the initiative on provisions for the common defense can originate only in the place designated by the Constitution. For once, the Roosevelt administration's right to assume control over something it is asking the whole nation to do is unchallenged. The need is for more authority than has been demonstrated so far—and more thorough application of the authority that already exists.

DO THEY BELIEVE THAT STUFF?

If one power to help mankind could be granted at the beginning of a new year, it would be ability to understand the causes of misunderstanding.

It would be ability to understand why there should be, between persons with access to the same information, irreconcilable differences of opinion. It would be, above all, ability to understand that virtually all differences of opinion spring from sincere convictions and cannot be shrugged off as merely the dishonest mouthings of a venal puppet who has "sold out" to the other side.

Then, when the Adolf Hitlers and the Virginio Gaydas and Joseph Coebelses, yes and the Dorothy Thompsons and Harold Ickeses and all the others whose voiced opinions have effect on what men think and do, spoke their minds, their sincerity, at least, would not need to be held in question before their judgment came under scrutiny. The causes of misunderstandings would be plain; they could be dealt with directly.

If Adolf Hitler, for instance, said the United States was interested in upholding the hands of those who were fighting for its principles solely to win profits and boom its armament industry—as Adolf Hitler has said only recently—it would be plain that he had been influenced by the same misinformation that caused millions of Americans to believe they were forced into the World war by a plot, instead of their own convictions.

Instead of starting each debate with a healthy doubt that the opponent honestly believes what he is saying, men could take candor for granted. There are, after all, few exceptions to the rule that men do believe what they say they believe; that they differ not because they wilfully want to be hostile but because they can't surrender their convictions, however wrong the convictions may seem to be to someone else.

LONDON TAKES IT

Imagination sags before the challenge of trying to understand the damage German bombs are doing to the world's largest metropolis. Last Sunday night's raid on the "city," that little square mile of historic territory in the center of London's 700 square miles, seems particularly tragic because nearly everyone has heard about the "city" in some specific connection with history and pageantry.

The "city" is the site of such famous buildings as St. Paul's cathedral, Old Bailey court, the Guildhall and Carlton club, an area of historic importance, with little or no military importance. Its deliberate destruction can be construed only as an act of furious revenge, for British raids on German invasion bases the preceding night. It is as though an enemy of the United States were to level Mt. Vernon merely to demonstrate his ability to spread destruction at will.

Destroying monuments and landmarks does not have any direct bearing on the outcome of the war, yet no one can fail to understand that Britain's inability to protect such things is vitally significant. So far, there is no defense against aerial bombardment; there is nothing but the doubtful satisfaction of retaliation in kind. While it is not to be imagined the British would spare Berlin if any useful purpose were to be served by demolishing it, the bitter fact is they are unable to muster the airpower needed to carry out a project of demolition inside Germany. Only against coastal objectives can they approach the destruction which Germany's air arm can inflict on them at will.

PROPER HUMILITY

From the list of teaching posts he has held and the fact the Communists kicked him out of Russia, it may be deduced that Dr. Pitirim A. Sorokin, chairman of Harvard university's sociology department, is a man full of ideas. This gives his latest idea, which happens to be about sociologists, economists and political "scientists," a high vitamin content.

The idea is that these gents and ladies don't know what they're talking about. The more they mess around, the worse things become. They've fumbled their opportunities all the way down the line. The more they've tampered, the less good they've accomplished. All this and more Dr. Sorokin told the American Sociological society in its convention at Chicago.

Obviously, he couldn't be right. There are some sociologists, some economists, some political "scientists" who know what they're talking about, even if Dr. Sorokin doesn't know who they are. There must be some; they are the ones who, like the doctor, have learned enough to realize they don't know anything.

Only then can they tackle their specialties with proper humility. It's a process that takes upward of 50 years to complete, but like ageing cheese and wine it just has to be endured.

POOH-BAHS

To an extent far greater than they are willing to admit, those who sniff at what they call alarmist versions of Great Britain's chances are dependent on the self-same chances for their complacency.

They felt complacent about France before France fell. There was no need to be concerned because the French army was the best in the world, they explained. Nothing was going to happen to France. When it disintegrated, a lot of American complacency disintegrated with it.

Then, ironically, their complacency was restored by Britain's stout defense. Apparently, the only thing capable of shattering it again would be defeat of Great Britain. There is not the slightest doubt of what would happen then. The formerly complacent would complain bitterly that it shouldn't have been allowed to happen; that farsighted men should have seen it coming and prepared the United States to face the consequences. That is exactly what lies behind alarmist versions of Great Britain's chances—to be prepared for the worst if it happens and to do everything possible meanwhile to keep the worst from happening.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, January 4

THE PLANETARY configurations of this day stress very high powered activities with all the forces and faculties keyed up to outstanding achievements and probably in the inauguration of new projects of major importance. The initiative and aggressive urges should be greatly accelerated into sweeping away all before them that might oppose or defeat. Nevertheless herein may lie a menace of a hidden source of antagonism, treachery and subtle betrayal.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should have a year of excellent success and productivity, possibly in new lines of major importance, as the forces and faculties are tuned up to aggressive performance and marked constructive genius. However there is a hidden menace of crafty opposition.

A child born on this day should have excellent energies, creative powers and initiative of a constructive and productive ability to carry all before it. But it may suffer through the mean machinations and deception of those it trusts and give confidence to.

NEBRASKA PLANS UNICAMERAL TEST

Legislature Enters Third Session and Faces Further Trial

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 3.—Nebraska's unicameral legislature convening this month for its third session is still regarded as a governmental experiment on which final judgment should be withheld.

Two fundamental complaints have been directed at the one-house, non-political body, but no concerted move has been launched to overhaul it. Most criticisms of the legislature have revolved around these assertions:

1.—Its non-partisan character makes for lack of leadership with consequent confusion and delay.

2.—The present membership of 43 is too limited; legislators are overburdened with work and are unable to give proper consideration to bills without unduly extending the session.

System Basically Popular

Hence, most proposed changes call for enlargement of the body and restoration of election to membership on a party ticket. There has been no significant demand for a return to the two-house system. Reorganization proposals have failed to win support, even from some who favor revision, apparently because of a belief that the unicameral system is still in an experimental stage and has not received a fair test.

A bill was introduced in the 1939 session, proposing a referendum vote on a constitutional amendment to increase the membership to 80 or 100 and to elect legislators on a political ticket. The measure died in committee. An effort to dislodge it received only eight votes, although more than one-third of the members refrained from voting.

Fathered By Morris

The Nebraska electorate approved the unicameral amendment, fathered by Sen. George W. Norris, in a 1934 referendum. Principal objectives were to create a body of more qualified legislators and to divorce legislation from partisan politics.

Members now receive a biennial salary of $1,744 whereas they formerly were paid $10 for each legislative day. Despite the salary increase from 133 to 49 halved the total session costs and reduced them to a point below the figure for salaries alone under the bicameral system.

Total cost of the 1939 session was $100,678, while that for 1937 was $109,445. For the last two biennial sessions, expenses totaled $173,023 in 1933 and $202,593 in 1935. The 1939 session of 111 days was the longest in the history of the state, but it lasted only one day longer than the 1935 bicameral session.

MENANDS, N. Y.—Yates Lansing, 26, of Albany, was bowling with friends in an open match when he began a spree that ended 21 consecutive strikes, one perfect game and a 770 total. He started by striking out in the last seven frames of his first game, then went through the second game and the first two frames of the last for singles scores of 236, 300, and 234.

SUGGESTS BOTTLED SUNSHINE

May Be Used as Substitute for Real Thing, Says Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

There are plenty of examples among all of our friends, of people who illustrate the old saying of the fellow who began to think about health only when he didn't have it. The same is true of sunlight, as we pointed out yesterday, when we talked about the necessity of sunlight for health, whether we get it the natural or the artificial way. It is just during these dark days when the sun is beginning to come back to us, that we should try to get as much as we can of it, to stave off the hormone deficiencies that make their appearance in the spring.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

I don't like to confine my definition of the deficiencies to rickets, although rickets is the one spring disease that we can name and define clearly. There must be a lot more that affect adults and children, too, although they have not been studied as thoroughly as rickets. Rickets is a condition of infants and children up to five years of age. In a fully developed case there is lack of bone formation, and such cases are easy to spot on sight, but there are all sorts of minor degrees of the condition.

A Condition of Spring

It is a condition of spring as I say, due to lack of winter sunshine, and it is a disease of temperate climates. It doesn't occur very often in the Tropics because they have plenty of sun, and it doesn't occur in the Arctic regions because they eat plenty of fish.

In the last statement there is a hint that we can get sunshine (or the substance that sunshine creates in the body—Vitamin D) in the diet. So one thing to do if all the days right now are dark, is to eat sea food. Vitamin D, which is often absent from other natural foodstuffs, is always present in the sea foods, according to the Bureau of Fisheries. And that is not all—sea foods are chockful of the elements the body needs—concentrated and liberal quantities of calcium, phosphorus, sulphur, copper, iron and iodine. Iodine should be emphasized—there is no better way of absorbing this necessary element. Fish is the ideal form for taking iodine. And sea food is also comparatively light and digestible.

There are scores of preparations now that contain Vitamin D. They differ considerably in Vitamin D content and in cost; and it may be well to remember, if in doubt, that the experience of clinicians as to what constitutes adequate dosage is far greater with cod liver oil than anything else, which is a daily dosage of three teaspoonfuls. Average cod liver oil on the market contains about 100 United States Pharmacopoeia units a gram, making three teaspoonful contain 1200 units. (This is adequate and perhaps a little more than adequate dosage, but not in the stage of threatened or active rickets.)

Use Other Concentrates

If it becomes troublesome to make the child take 3 teaspoonful a day, use one of the concentrates —viosterol, or the fish oil percomorph, or halibut liver oil. Properly irradiated Vitamin D milk is adequate, requiring on the average at least a quart a day.

It is far more important to give adequate amounts at this time of year (from October to April) than in the days when sunshine is abundant. Other foods containing calcium and phosphorus for bone building should be used. Bread is a good source of calcium. But don't be afraid to take the youngster out in the sunlight whenever possible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
L. S. A.—"Are sun baths and alcohol rubs injurious to one suffering from high blood pressure?"

Answer—In my experience they are, if anything, beneficial in this condition.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th St., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Regulating and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Surgery Restores Sight To Eye Blind 50 Years

AUGUSTA, Ga.—A delicate operation has enabled J. A. Evans, of Crawfordville, Ga., to regain use of an eye in which sight was lost 50 years ago.

A flying wood chip cost Evans use of the eye. He had long ago abandoned hope of having it sight restored. But when he went to Dr. Wade Beddingfield, Augusta specialist, to have his good eye treated, the doctor also performed an operation on the blind eye.

Evans can now see well enough to read a newspaper with the long-useless eye.

HARRY POOL

"My legs and arms would pain and cramp terrible after getting up in the mornings making it very difficult for me to move around," says Mr. Harry Pool, Salem, Ohio R. R. No. 2, engaged in farming and a Methodist Church Member. "Every night I would be forced to leave my bed to relieve my kidneys. I was continually burdened with a nagging backache and my feet and ankles would swell awful. After taking this fine medicine a short time I can gladly recommend it to anyone enduring suffering as I once did because nothing else I ever used has any comparison with it."

"I can now go about doing my work without continually suffering from pains in my back, arms, and legs. My joints and muscles are no longer stiff and sore and I have been relieved of getting up several times each night to relieve my kidneys."

TRANTIN IS CHIEF OF "MIDGET" FIRM

Story Of Youngstown Steel Executive Reads Like Fiction

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN — Jack Trantin, Jr., 48-year-old wizard of steel-making, is president, treasurer and chief metallurgist of the Youngstown Alloy Castings Corp., the midget among Youngstown's giant steel mills.

Trantin's flourishing little plant serves the big producers measures its output in hundreds of pounds instead of tons.

How a few years after arriving here he became the boss of a prosperous concern, built out of his own initiative, is told in steel circles as a story of modern industrial pioneering.

A young metallurgist, alert for an opportunity to get ahead, Trantin listened to a pipe mill superintendent complain about the wastage of shutting down to change guide shoes, the metal blocks used to direct steel tubes through the rolling machinery.

Every time the guide shoes were changed, grumbled the superintendent, it cost the mill $100 to $125 in wasted time.

"What the country needs," he told the attentive metallurgist, "isn't a good five-cent cigar but a pipe mill guide shoe that won't wear out."

Trantin's Job Success
"I'll make you one," volunteered the young man, who had been concentrating on the study of metals, how to mix them and produce peculiar qualities of hardness and flexibility.

The mill superintendent laughed. Others had tried without much success to make a durable guide shoe. But Trantin went to work and made alloy steel shoes which lasted two, three or four weeks, instead of hours. They saved the steel industry large sums in terms of money.

So was born the Youngstown Alloy Castings Corp., rated the smallest steel plant in this district. Trantin was born in Chicago, specialized in metallurgy at the University of Wisconsin, worked for various big steel companies before he struck out on his own.

Trantin came to Youngstown about six years ago because of its centralized location in the industry.

He begged fire brick, built a small open hearth furnace in the backyard of his home. It burned waste automobile lubricating oil instead of gas.

He found a bigger market for his product than he could fill. Incorporating, he obtained a Reconstruction Finance Corp. loan, bought a small electric furnace and recently got a larger furnace as business continued to grow.

Now he is reaping his reward for his policy of turning down earlier chances to make money and preferring jobs in which he could learn more about metals.

Fire Loss Is Shown

ALLIANCE, Jan. 3.—Alliance was a favored city in 1940 so far as fires were concerned, the annual summary of Chief John E. Held revealed today.

Damage caused by flames during the year was placed at $9,291.38. It was the lowest loss experienced in Alliance in more than a quarter-century. The nearest approach over that span was a $12,000 loss in 1927.

MANHATTAN, Kas.—Kansas State College apparently will be one of the few colleges in the nation to offer a course in explosives as part of the engineering training for defense, Dr. W. L. Faith, head of the department of Chemical Engineering at the college, believes.

Push To South By Japanese Is Predicted As Next Move

By ROBERT P. BELLAIRE
United Press Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3.—Japanese-American relations, at the start of the new year, are considered here as being serious with little hope held out for an early improvement.

Despite the present apparent lull in Japan's southward program, the appointment of Japanese ambassador Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura and several semi-conciliatory remarks from Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, the general feeling among informed quarters here is that Japan is awaiting a more opportune time to push southward.

Informed military quarters report that there has not been any lull in Japan's extensive military and naval preparations for a southward push. In addition to the record concentration of transports at Haiphong, Japanese activity also has been reported as far south as the Spratley Islands. In addition, Japanese have landed much artillery, and other important materials at Haiphong, violating the terms of the Franco-Japanese agreement, according to Hanoi officials.

Hankow Forces Added
Japanese troops, on the move southward from China, apparently include additional forces from Hankow.

Informed quarters said that thus far there has been no practical evidence whatever of any change in Japan's policy toward Americans and other third power interests in China where restrictions on trade and travel are more severe than ever.

This policy of squeezing out foreign enterprise assumed a violent form in Shanghai one night recently in the western area where a mob of 30 gangsters attacked a British-owned bus, broke windows and lights with crow-bars and stones, and injured the Chinese driver. The attack occurred in an area in which a Japanese bus line began operations after the Japanese blockaded area had cut off all British bus line routes through the western area except for the one on which the attack occurred recently.

Greek Success Cited
One of the main factors delaying Japan's southward push is believed to be the Greek success against the Italians. Japan was poised for a thrust into Saigon on the eve of the Italian invasion of Greece which the Axis Powers believed would precipitate a Mediterranean crisis.

There has been considerable speculation on the role Japan intends to play in the Indo-China-Thailand hostilities. Some observers believe Japan may be preparing to "go to the rescue" of Indo-China, thereby having an excuse to invade Thailand and outflank Singapore. These quarters pointed out in support of their thesis Indo-China reports that the Japanese have been landing equipment at Haiphong which would not be needed against the French and which, it was believed, would not be used against the Chinese.

Observers pointed out that the government-controlled Japanese press also has quieted down regarding the Dutch East Indies, thereby further bolstering the belief in some circles that Thailand will be the next objective.

Officers Are Installed By Salem Pythian Sisters

Mrs. Marie Apple was installing officer for Friendship temple No. 100, Pythian Sisters, in the K. of P. hall last night when new officers were inducted.

Assisting in the ceremonies were Mrs. Elsie Scullion and Mrs. George Barnes, Sr. The group enjoyed lunch later.

Following the ceremonies a business session was held, members completing arrangements for a benefit party Thursday evening, Jan. 16, in the hall. The affair, which will feature lunch and prizes, will follow the regular temple meeting. The party will be open to the public.

Methodist Women Entertained

Group 5 of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lila Reed on Franklin st., with Mrs. J. M. Davidson and Mrs. A. C. Prethy as associate hostesses.

Mrs. W. L. Hart was in charge of the devotion and program, reviewing the present situation of Methodism in China.

Plans were completed for a benefit to be held Jan. 10 with Mrs. E. K. Cunningham, Mrs. Cora Smith, Mrs. A. B. Combs and Mrs. Ralph Tolerton in charge.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses during the social hour. The Feb. 6 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. J. Lehwald, S. Lincoln ave.

At Naragon Home
Group 7 of the women's society met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. P. Naragon, leader, on Woodland ave., for a business meeting and social hour.

Devotional service was led by Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkbride. Mrs. Nelson Bailey gave an interesting travelogue on China.

Arrangements were completed for a coverdish birthday luncheon at 1 p. m. Thursday, March 6, at the home of Mrs. D. H. Hummel and Mrs. Steven Odoran on N. Lincoln ave.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 6 at the home of Mrs. Lyman Goodhett, W. State st.

Lunch was enjoyed following the meeting.

Famous Organist And Composer To Play Here Jan. 16

A large audience is expected to hear Gatty Sellars, internationally known descriptive organist and composer, in a concert Thursday evening, Jan. 16, in the Presbyterian church here.

Sellars, whose mastery of the "king of instruments" has been demonstrated in films, on records and through his many concerts throughout the world, will make his second appearance in Salem. He played here first about 15 years ago in the former church building.

His compositions, many of which have been recorded and also used in motion pictures, have had their first hearings by such bands as the Royal Marines, before royalty in England and H. M. Grenadier and Coldstream Guards' bands.

He is solo organist for the world's greatest national band festival at the Alexandria palace in England, where he is heard annually. He is also the composer of this year's "test piece" for one of the great English band contests.

Mr. Sellars' programs are usually played entirely from memory and an extemporization given on any theme requested.

Ravenna's Superintendent Named On School Group

COLUMBUS, Jan. 3.—The newest member of the state board of the Ohio High School Athletic association is H. L. Brown, Ravenna superintendent of schools, who fills a vacancy created by expiration of the term of E. J. Weikel of Newton Falls. Brown defeated Frank L. Simmons of Cleveland East High school in yesterday's election.

Gives Up Office

WARREN, Jan. 3.—Canadian-born Neil Duck can not serve out another term as county commissioner because he is unable to prove his U. S. citizenship. Judge W. S. Sloum of Lake County ruled at the request of 29 Trumbull county petitioners.

Duck, a Democrat, who served four years prior to reelection Nov. 5, said he believed his father was naturalized 40 years ago but couldn't prove it. Judge Sloum directed a board of three, two of them Republicans, to name a successor.

County Women to Discuss Kitchen Improvements

LISBON, Jan. 3.—The second of the series of kitchen improvement projects or discussions sponsored by the county extension service under the direction of Miss Erma Ramsey, home demonstration agent, will be held next week.

The topic will be "Making Our Kitchens More Comfortable" stressing conveniences, and every one interested is invited to attend any one of the three meetings which will convene at 10:30 a. m. with a coverdish dinner at the noon hour.

The first of the series will be held Tuesday, Jan. 7, in the Presbyterian church at Hanoverton, with Mrs. H. A. Raley and Mrs. Ernest Moser as leaders. The second meeting will be held in the Lisbon garage hall Wednesday, Jan. 8, with Mrs. H. C. Kelch and Mrs. J. S. Shaw as leaders, while the third will be held in the home of Mrs. E. P. Lippincott near East Rochester in West township, Friday, Jan. 10, with Mrs. Alta Mick as leader.

Each lady is asked to bring a coverdish and her own table service.

Watch Family Now While Epidemic Colds Are Spreading

At a treacherous time like this, with an epidemic of contagious colds all around you, what you do today may save you and your family a lot of sickness, worry and trouble later.

Follow these simple rules of health: Live normally. Avoid excesses. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Take some exercise daily—preferably outdoors. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

Then use these two time-tested treatments when needed.

AT THE FIRST SNIFGLE, SNEEZE OR NASAL IRRITATION . . . put a few drops of Vicks Vapo-nol up each nostril. This helps to prevent many colds from developing, because Vapo-nol is expressly designed to help Nature's own defenses against colds. (If a head cold causes stuffiness, you'll find that a few drops of Vapo-nol helps clear the clogging mucus and makes breathing freer and easier.)

IF A CHEST COLD OR COUGHING COLD DEVELOPS (some colds get by all precautions) use Vicks VapoRub to relieve miseries. Rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back and cover with a warm cloth. VapoRub acts to bring relief 2 ways at once. It stimulates surface of chest and back like a poultice. At the same time it releases helpful medicinal vapors that are breathed direct into the irritated air passages.

Both Vapo-nol and VapoRub have been tested through years of use in millions of homes. When you use these two medicines you are not experimenting, you are not taking needless chances. Remember: If the condition of the cold fails to respond quickly to treatment—or if more serious trouble is indicated—call your family physician right away. In the meantime be prepared! Get a bottle of Vicks Vapo-nol and a jar of Vicks VapoRub today—have them handy, ready to use.

CHANNEL WEAPONS ARE WELL HIDDEN

Germans Believed Using Camouflage Copied from Mother Nature

(By United Press)

CINCINNATI — Utilization of protective coloring and shadows is the Nazi secret of camouflaging big guns which blast across the English channel, according to Dr. Isaac A. Balinkin, University of Cincinnati color expert.

The art of camouflage is used to hide effectively the German guns on the rocky north coast of France in the vicinity of Cape Gris-Nez that English scouting planes have been unable to locate them, Dr. Balinkin said.

Two basic principles of camouflage are being used by the Germans, he explained. The first involves painting the guns to match their background as much as possible, usually with a mottled effect. The second principle is the use of obliterative shadowing.

In this method the camouflaged object is painted dark on top and light on the bottom, which does much to blot out shadows on the object," Dr. Balinkin said. "Many fish are colored in this way to escape their natural enemies."

Dr. Balinkin recalled that during the World War the Allies tried bright color camouflage on their warships.

"This was abandoned as ineffective when it was learned that the German submarines were equipped with color filters on their periscopes which cut out the jumbled colors leaving on the solid outline of the ship," he revealed.

The art of camouflage as practiced in modern warfare is believed to have originated in France, although the French probably borrowed the idea from the American Indian and African tribes who used the idea centuries ago.

The first war in which camouflage was used extensively was in the Boer war in South Africa in 1899 to 1902, according to Dr. Balinkin.

Iowa Brothers Separated For 49 Years Although Living Only 120 Miles Apart

DES MOINES, Ia. — Two Iowa brothers, separated for 49 years, have pledged to see each other often after persistence overcame years of unsuccessful searching and brought them together.

They are Henry Lawrence, 52, a Des Moines coal miner, and Ernest E. Jacobs, 51, Iowa City. The two men spent most of their lives within 120 miles of each other and Jacobs once slept in Lawrence's bed without knowing it.

In 1891, their mother, a German, who could neither speak nor write English, was widowed at Cedar Rapids and unable to support the two brothers and two sons and a daughter by a previous husband.

She agreed to the adoption of Ernest by an Iowa City couple named Jacobs, agreeing never to see the child again. Several years later she took the rest of her family to Des Moines, where she married again.

Henry's father was named Lorenz, but his mother's third husband understood it as Lawrence and wrote it that way, and the mother was unable to tell that it was incorrect since she could not read. And she told Henry that his brother had been adopted by a family named Jacobsen.

The Jacobs family told the adopted brother of Henry's existence and both men began their search. After years of heartbreaking experiences in looking up Jacobsens and Lorenzes, Lawrence was in Iowa City for a visit and decided to look up an Ernest E. Jacobs.

The two men paled when a rapid checkup by Lawrence disclosed their search was ended. Jacobs later said his hands were shaking three hours later so that he could not shave.

Once Jacobs had rented a room near the Iowa State Fair grounds at Des Moines, Lawrence was working in the Minnesota harvest fields at the time. When he returned, his landlady told him:

"Henry, a boy from Iowa City stayed in your room during the fair and he looked enough like you to be your brother. If he isn't, he ought to be."

Charles Whitcomb, 88, died at his home, 349 W. Fifth st., at 10 a. m. today following six years' illness of a cerebral hemorrhage.

The son of George and Caroline Whitcomb, he was born Jan. 9, 1853, in England and came to Salem 60 years ago. He was a sergeant major in the Salvation Army for 25 years.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Yates of Salem, Mrs. Mary Toland of Cleveland and Mrs. Carrie Garwood of East Liverpool; six sons, Albert of Alliance, David, George, Fred, Walter and Harry of Salem; 29 grandchildren and 28 great grandchildren; and one brother, David, in England.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home in charge of Rev. C. F. Evans. Burial will be in Hope cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday evening.

MRS. ALCENIA BELL

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Alcenia Bell, 86, widow of Frank Bell, died Thursday at her home, 12422 Oscola ave., Cleveland.

The daughter of George and Mary Rukensbrod Mankin, Mrs. Bell was born in Fairfield, Columbiana county, July 28, 1854.

Her husband died 30 years ago. One son died five years ago.

She was a former Columbiana resident and a former member of the local Grace Reformed church. She is survived by one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edgar Bell; one grandchild and one sister, Mrs. Martha Weikart, Columbiana.

Funeral services will be held at the Fry funeral home at 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be in Columbiana cemetery. The body will arrive from Cleveland at 9:45 Saturday morning.

MRS. WILLIAM BEST

BELOIT, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Mary Jane Best, 59, wife of William B. Best, died in Alliance City hospital Wednesday following six months' illness.

Mrs. Best was born May 6, 1881, in Hendrick county Durham, England, and had resided here 28 years. She was a member of the Episcopal church and the Macabee lodge.

Survivors are her husband; two sons, William Best Jr., of Sardis and Charles Best of Beloit; one daughter, Mrs. Patience Larkins of Aberdeen, Miss., and two grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held in Beloit Friends church at 2 p. m. Saturday and burial will be in Grandview cemetery, Sebring. Calling hours will be observed at the residence from 7 to 9 tonight.

GREGOR FUNERAL

Funeral services for Michael Gregor, 43, of 538 Columbia st., will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Stark Memorial in charge of Rev. John Bauman. Burial will be in Hope cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

Mr. Gregor's body was found hanging at his home yesterday morning. He was born in Rumania March 15, 1897. He had been employed at the National Sanitary plant.

Liverpool Court Clerk Is Appointed by Judge

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 3.—Miss Sara McMillan, who served six years prior to 1937, was appointed municipal clerk Thursday by Judge Frank E. Grosshans.

She will serve the remaining year of the four-year term of John W. Coleman, who will resign Saturday to become Columbiana county clerk of courts. Like Coleman, she is a Republican.

Judge Grosshans also appointed Miss Maude E. Gill, Republican jury commissioner. She succeeds Mrs. Mary Huston, who resigned to become a deputy in Coleman's county office.

'41 MAY DETERMINE EUROPEAN WINNER

Hitler's Projected Invasion Of England Is Seen As Big Factor

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
This new year should give us a fair chance—not unlikely within the first half—to determine the ultimate winner of the European war. As a matter of fact I imagine most readers already have made up their minds—perhaps with the help of a bit of wishful thinking—as to where the laurels will rest. Still, we shall be smart to remember that the favorite doesn't always win.

While we can see certain tendencies, the only thing we can be dead sure of to my mind is that neither side has won this war yet. It's still anybody's victory. However, the wheel of fortune is spinning fast and we may see a radical change in the situation in a short time. Actually there is a possibility that the conflict may be ended this year, though I certainly am not predicting that, as it also is possible that it may be protracted.

I believe we should be able to pick the champion if and when Herr Hitler has tried his projected invasion of England, against which the Britons are guarding night and day. The consequences of that operation will be so far-reaching that he is likely either to emerge the conqueror of Europe, or a badly beaten man who may still hang on for a time but ultimately must succumb.

Last week after I had spoken in

New York before the American Association of Teachers of Journalism, a member of the audience came to me and said:

"A year ago I heard you state you thought grains of wheat would have more to do with the outcome of the war than would bullets, that is, that economic strangulation would be the winning factor. Do you still believe that?"

I told him yes. The British blockade which is raising havoc with Axis resources is far stronger than it was a year ago.

At the same time Hitler's fierce submarine counter-blockade is causing the British much concern. Premier Churchill has said still heavier U-boat attacks must be expected this year. Despite this the government asserts there is no cause for despondency. This seems to be a fair statement of the position.

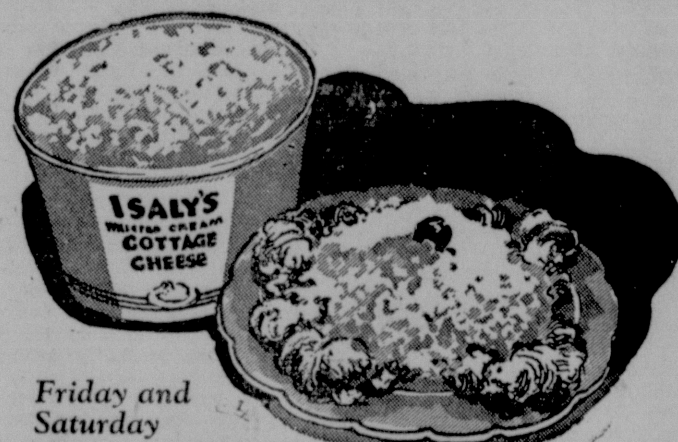

The Anglo-Allied victories over the Italians in the Mediterranean area have completely altered the picture in that vital zone, and vastly increased the Allied chances of winning the war. Britain is mistress of mare nostrum—"our sea", as the Italians call it.

Italy is in a sorry state. The blockade has cut her off from essential supplies, including foodstuffs, and virtually isolated her from her colonies and African armies. If she doesn't collapse, she still won't be much of an asset in the partnership with Germany.

SAN FRANCISCO—In the divorce suit of Vincent J. and Mrs. Gladys O'Brien, a compromise agreement was reached, whereby, Pal, family police dog, was awarded to the husband. Mrs. O'Brien, however, received a court order permitting her to visit the dog at all reasonable times. There were no children.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(Livio Leo) DeBonis, 17-year-old dental student at the University of Michigan, spends 70 hours a week in the Washtenaw county jail. But he's not a prisoner; he's turnkey, working his way through college.

Young Folks Plan Columbiana Rally

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 3 — Announcement is made of the annual fall conference of Young People's societies of Mahoning presbytery which will be held in the local Presbyterian church Saturday, Jan. 11.

The young people will be guests of the local society of which Ted Detwiler is president. Dinner will be served in the church dining room in the evening. The evening program will be presented by the Columbiana group. The committee in charge is composed of Rev. J. K. McDill, Misses Miriam Esterly and Connie Griffin.

E. A. Peters is resting comfortably in St. Elizabeth hospital, where he was taken when he suffered three broken bones in his foot while at work.

Miss Connie Griffin was hostess to a group of school friends at a party Thursday evening at her home. The affair was arranged as a farewell courtesy to Miss Betty Lehman who will leave the first of the week to spend the rest of the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla. Games were enjoyed, after which lunch was served and the honor guest was presented a shower of gifts.

Coach Alfred Beach and his basketball team will journey to East Palestine tonight hoping for a victory over their old time rivals. This game will not be a Tri-County game.

WARSAW, Va.—William Y. Morgan, 75-year-old editor of the Northern Neck News, has worked on the paper 62 years and been its editor for the past half-century. "I'm not thinking about retiring," he declared. "I'm still working 10 hours a day and traveling 250 miles a week in my car."

National Sanitary Downs Althouse Motors In Class A Scrap

Y. P. C. C. PUSHED BY METHODISTS IN CLASS B CONTEST

Demings Win from Baptists and Rudibaugh Downs Newsies

The hot Class A rivalry was renewed between the National Sanitary and Althouse Motors last night at the Memorial building, with the Tubmakers gaining the verdict, 31 to 22.

The Sanitary team found the game a little easier than usual as they took the lead in the opening period and never was headed. The champ's zone defense caused the Motors no end of trouble during the fray, while the winners were able to repeatedly break the Althouse man-for-man system.

The Sanitary scoring was evenly distributed, Bob Jeffries leading the parade with nine points. Catlos with eight, and Duncan and Pukalski each garnering six markers. Gordy Scullion was again the individual scoring star for Althouse's looping five goals and two fouls for 12 tallies. Stratton collected six.

The Y. P. C. C. almost lost their first place position in the Class B loop last night as the Methodists forced the league-leaders to the limit before they came through with a last-minute tally to win, 30-28.

Hickling and Hippely led the winners with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Simon and Mogo collected nine and eight points for the Methodists.

Rudibaugh's Sohloans gained a 24-19 decision over the Salem Newsies.

Nedelka led the Servicemen with 11 markers. Shoe topped the News scoring with nine tallies.

Demings took a close 23-18 verdict from the Baptists.

The winners' scoring was well divided, Courtney heading the list with five points. Freed was the big gun for the Baptists, hooping eight.

BOWLING RESULTS

The Electricians went into a tie for first place with the Purchasing department last night in the Electric Furnace league as they swept three games from the Transformers while the Purchasers were losing two out of three to the Office at the Masonic alleys.

The Draftsmen made a clean sweep over the Shipping Room while the Machinists handed the same medicine to the Structural Department.

The Crescent Machine five increased its first place lead to five games in the Commercial league at the Grate alleys last night as it took the Jaycee All-Star two out of three while the second place Smith's Creamery team was losing two to Zimmerman's Olds.

The People's Lumber edged out the Palace Lunch two out of three while Washingtonville I. O. O. F. gained a similar verdict over the Trades Class.

The Salem polo club trounced the Bliss three straight frames and Hilliard's treated the Letonia F. O. E. in the same manner.

RESCUED AGAIN

Seaman William Strang was one of forty members of the American crew of the Charles Pratt reported saved as the tanker was mysteriously sunk off the coast of British West Africa. Two men are said to have died. Above photo was taken at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., after Strang was rescued from the sinking steamer E. J. Bullock in 1938.

O'ROURKE READY TO WRITE FINIS ON GRID PLAYING

Spurns Pro Offers; Would Rather Teach. And Maybe Coach a Little

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3.—The sugar bowl's current hero wants no more glory and no more bruises. Slim Charlie O'Rourke is willing to call his playing career ended with the sensational performance that brought Boston college a 13-13 victory over Tennessee Wednesday in the closing minutes. The placid life of a teacher appeals to him more than the turbulence of a professional gridiron.

Dead-Pan Charlie had plenty of both glory and bruises Wednesday. In the first few minutes of play he received a cruel hip blow, and chunks of skin were scraped from his shins. A team physician said that after the game his body was a mass of bruises. In addition, during halftime Charlie took two salt tablets that made him sick.

None of the cheering 73,181 spectators realized it was a sick cripple, playing on his nerve, who completed three passes for 45 yards, clustered 24 more for the winning score, then broke up two long Tennessee passes which appeared no touch-down specials.

O'Rourke has been drafted by the Chicago Bears but leans toward a proposition as assistant coach and teacher at the Maiden, Mass., High school where he started before going to college.

"I've had enough," said the blond hero as he packed his bags last night to leave for Boston. He was limping badly, and when he dropped an envelope he could hardly stoop to pick it up.

"You play professional football three or four years, you're through, and what have you?" Charlie, who will receive a B. S. in education next June, said he did not want a coaching job, however, unless it included classroom teaching duties.

"You have more security that way," he explained.

Saves Race Track As Civic Venture

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3.—William G. Helms, oil millionaire, declares he put up the money for a syndicate which planned to resume racing at the historic fair grounds track "purely from a civic standpoint" and added that he was "not interested in making any more money."

The track equipment was offered at auction yesterday by a group which had purchased it for $460,000 with the announced purpose of turning the site into a residential subdivision.

Several thousand dollars worth of chairs, tables and other articles had been knocked down when the auction was halted abruptly and the announcement made that an option had been given on all equipment and the site for $525,000.

REAL ESTATE

THIS FARM MUST BE SOLD TO SETTLE AN ESTATE
114 acres, located about seven miles from Salem on a good hard road and in a very desirable neighborhood. Both buildings and land are up-to-the-minute. Ten-room house under slate, has electricity, furnace, bath, wonderful cellar. Abundance of water on farm. Brick milk house has flow of water which has constant temperature of about 50 degrees.

Large wagon house, exceptionally fine bank barn with strawshed. Owner will include 20 high grade Jerseys, five very good horses, all machinery, including milking machine, growing crops and feed in the barn. This farm should sell for $15,000, but to settle an estate we are forced to offer it with all equipment at only $8,500!

"TRIAL WITHOUT JURY"

By JAMES RONALD

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

"We know that one of the family committed the crime, do we? And how do you suppose the papers came to know as much as we do?" asked Sheriff Black.

"I told them," replied Burrows, squaring his shoulders.

"Took them completely into your confidence didn't you? What was the idea? Why didn't you consult me first?" pressed the Sheriff.

"The idea didn't occur to me while I was in your company."

"Laying our whole hand on the table for the benefit of everybody isn't our customary policy."

"Maybe not. But this case is different. We've got to pick our man—or woman—out of a field of seven or eight and the only way to do it is to scare 'em all, in the hope that the guilty one will make some move that will give him away."

"And supposing the murder lies low and says nothing?"

"In this event, I'm afraid the case will never be settled. We can't put eight people on trial and we can't choose one by lot. There's another advantage to giving full publicity to all the known facts of the case. It stimulates gossip and when folks gossip, things often crop out. I told you yesterday what I got from that old gal with the spy-glass."

"Then you want to go on feeding these sensational stories to the press?"

"Sure I do. And they'll get more and more sensational when I get into stride."

"I don't like it, Inspector. It's pretty tough on the innocent members of that family. Still, I suppose you know what you're doing. What luck with the fingerprints?"

"We found ten different sets in the room and checked them with those we had taken from the family and the servant. Nine of them agreed with those of the parents, Miss Mimms and Hannah Gale. The tenth, which was taken from the frame of the French windows, were those of an outsider."

"Ah!" said Sheriff Black. "I had a hunch about the tenth set, so I had Sergeant Feathers call at a certain house in the village and take fingerprints from the handle of a tennis racket which he found there. The racket belongs to Mr. Edward Fleming—and the prints on it matched the tenth set!"

"They did?"

"Sure! What's more, Feathers has been making a study of fingerprints, and he assures me that those on the frame of the French windows had been made not later than the afternoon of the murder."

"Fleming was seen in the garden about three o'clock.... Have you interviewed him?"

"I called at his house twice yesterday but he wasn't at home. On my second visit I left a summons for him to attend the inquest this morning. We have made another important fingerprint discovery. A thumbprint on the scorched draft of the will is that of Hannah Gale."

"Then Hannah was the one who attempted to burn it? Have you talked to her about this?"

"No, I thought it better to spring it on her at the inquest."

"Psychological effect?"

"Something like that."

Inspector Burrows coughed and glanced at the Sheriff.

"Got anything you want to tell the coroner privately before the inquest starts?"

"I don't think so. Why?"

"I'd suggest giving him his head. When he gets going, Doctor Heffers can be a regular terror. He may worry something out of the Osbornes if he goes the limit."

"Poor devils, he'll tear 'em to pieces! Well, better him than me."

All Lakelawn and most of the surrounding district turned out for the inquest on Octavia Osborne. It was the greatest free show in years and nobody wanted to miss it. Loungers forsook their street corners; tradesmen left their shops in charge of grumbling assistants; schoolboys played hooky; housewives stacked their unwashed breakfast dishes in their kitchen sinks, took their little ones by the hand, and went to see the fun.

An hour before the inquest was to begin, the coroner's court was packed to suffocation and the overflow—several thousand strong—jammed the street outside from end to end, surging to and fro like an ocean gone mad.

It was every man for himself. A murmur arose: "There they are! Look! That's Stephen Osborne, that tall man trying to push his way to the door. That's his wife, close behind." And the rabble pressed forward like sheep, thrusting and shoving for a glimpse of the relatives suspected of having strangled their own kin for her money. In the crazy scramble several women fainted.

"I couldn't see 'em!" wailed a voice. "Did you see 'em, Nellie? What did they look like?" "Twasn't them. They ain't showed up yet."

"Late, ain't they?" "Maybe they beat it." "I don't blame them if they have. I'd beat it, too, if the cops were after me for murder!"

Shortly after ten, word that the Osbornes had been smuggled into court by a back door spread through the crowd and many angry voices were raised in disgruntled protests. It was, they all agreed, a dirty trick. After us waiting all this time!

The coroner, Dr. Nicholas Heffers, was a twisted little man with a curved back and hunched shoulders which, together with his bald head and hooked nose, gave him a remarkable resemblance to an old parrot. Inspector Burrows had warned him that the majority of the witnesses were likely to be stubborn; and he was ready for them. It was his boast that he could take the starch out of the most stubborn witness in two minutes flat.

It took him no more than that to reduce Stephen to pulp; but in Ann and Hannah Gale he found foemen worthy of his steel. He had one passage-at-arms with Ann which almost took the starch out of him; and several of Hannah's tart replies evoked appreciative chuckles from the audience.

The day wore on while he dealt with the Osbornes, one by one. He ranted, berated, sneered; going over the same point time and again, hammering at every answer until it was battered out of shape. There was a short break for lunch and then he started on them again. It was four o'clock in the afternoon before Peter, the last of the family to testify, was allowed to stand down, in a flood of tears. Doctor Heffers leaned back with a fixed scowl at the bench on which the Osbornes were seated and wiped beads of perspiration from his narrow brow.

Coroner Heffers dealt more gently with the dead woman's former companion, but poor Miss Mimms was in a state of panic before she started to give evidence.

Then came an electric thrill when the coroner ordered: "Call Agnes Alicia Whipple."

Miss Whipple rose with alacrity and came forward, clasping her hands and adjusting her glasses with the other. There was on her pinched face an eager, avid look and in her peering eyes a glint of jubilation. She bore herself with an air which made it quite clear that she did not doubt the importance of the role she was about to play.

"On Saturday last between half past two and four o'clock in the afternoon, you were seated at your bedroom window, looking out?"

Miss Whipple inclined her head gravely.

"I was."

Doctor Heffers fumbled with the papers on his desk, selected one, and glanced at it.

"You were examining the surrounding countryside through a telescope?"

A half-suppressed gust of laughter caused Miss Whipple to redder. "That is so," she said stiffly.

"Did you at any time have the house of Stephen Osborne under observation?"

"I did. Practically all of the time. Not," she added hastily—"not that I was in any sense of the word spying on the Osbornes. Inquisitiveness, I am happy to say, is not one of my failings. But across the road from where the Osbornes live is a birch grove in which lives a large colony of birds and it is my delight on bright, sunny days to watch the comings and goings of our little feathered friends through my telescope. I am also interested in astronomy; that is my principal reason for owning the instrument."

"And quite frequently the Osborne house came into the range of your lens?"

"Quite frequently, yes."

"Did you see any stranger approaching the house?"

"I did not."

"Did you see anyone approaching?"

"I did."

"Whom did you see?"

Miss Whipple straightened her shoulders and glanced meaningfully at the jury.

"I saw Mr. Edward Fleming, Junior. It was about three o'clock. He pushed open the garden gate and went up the path. In his hand—her voice rose dramatically—"was a colored silk scarf."

A hush so pregnant that it was almost audible fell upon the crowded courtroom.

"He was carrying a colored silk scarf?" the coroner repeated with emphasis.

"He was," said the spinster firmly.

"Did you see it clearly enough to be able to recognize it again?"

"I did."

"Is this it?" Doctor Heffers held up the scarf with which Octavia Osborne had been murdered.

"It is," replied Miss Whipple clearly.

The coroner paused with dramatic emphasis; then pressed on his inquisition with: "Did this young man go to the front door of the house?"

"He did not. In what I can only describe as—as a furtive manner—he went stealthily 'round the side of the house."

"Did you see him again?"

"Yes. I had been struck by the oddness of his manner and I kept the house under observation until he reappeared."

"When was that?"

"In about five minutes. He returned the way he had come, but this time he was hurrying, almost running."

"And then?"

"I saw nothing more," said the spinster regretfully, "until one of the Osborne children came running out of the house and darted down the road to Doctor Denham's residence."

"Thank you, Miss Whipple. May I commend you for the clear and straightforward manner in which you have given your testimony? That will be all."

Miss Whipple sailed back to her place, her head held high.

"Call Edward Fleming, Junior."

There was an expectant murmuring, much turnings of the heads and craning of necks.

COR. EAST STATE ST. AND LINCOLN AVE.

on Sunday where they will visit their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards, formerly of Salem.

Mrs. Mary Chappell of Erie, Pa., is spending a few days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. David Weikart. New Year's day visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith were: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lynn of Canfield, Howard Alexander and sister, Evelyn of Scienceville, Miss Mary Clark of Hubbard and Thornton DeJane of Youngstown.

A dance will be held in the old K. of P. hall this evening, given by the new owner, Walter Tourdot.

The Women's Society of Christian Service will hold its regular meeting in the Methodist church parlors on Friday evening.
